LETTER-DRIVE FOR HOSPITAL AIDS FINANCES

Although the average daily census during September at the Annie M. Warner hospital was only 62, there were 94 patients in the hospital at the end of the month and the occupancy during October has been maintaining a high daily average.

There were 241 admissions in September. Births, totaling 59, included 32 female and 27 male babies. Receipts of $16,782.99 fell short of expenditures of $18,720.41 thus reducing the operating funds of the hospital by nearly $2,000.

Earned income of $19,102.80 was increased by donations of $113. Actual and accrued expenses were $742.49 in excess of earned income reflecting an operating loss for the month of that sum caused by the low census that characterized September.

These were the figures studied by the board of directors of the hospital at its regular October meeting held in the board room, Friday evening, Carl A. Baum, acting president of the hospital, presided.

Letter Campaign Helps
An appropriation of $2,000 from the county commissioners and a transfer of $3,400 from the letter campaign fund to which 6,359 Adams countyans have contributed $14,168.79 since December 1, 1948, have bolstered the hospital treasury and Administrator Walter R. Doud told the directors he anticipates no serious difficulties in the immediate future.

The items of principal interest that came before the directors Friday night was the announcement from Mrs. R. W. Gifford, president of the hospital auxiliary, that the auxiliary will refurbish the two diet kitchens at an estimated cost of $1,500 each. The kitchens will be painted, new floor coverings installed, cupboards will be repaired, replaced and enlarged and new refrigeration will be installed, the auxiliary president stated, in announcing this as the current year's project of that organization.

NO GROWERS SELL APPLES TO UNCLE SAM

Adams county's seams may be bursting with a bumper apple crop, but fruit growers apparently do not want to get rid of their apples bad enough to warrant selling them to the government — at the price offered.

The government, through the Production and Marketing Administration, offered to purchase 13 carloads of apples from Adams county growers during the period extending from October 10 until today. The price to be paid was $1.70 a bushel for U.S. No. 1's, mostly 2 1/2-inch and up, loaded in new bushel baskets directly into railroad cars. Not one grower applied to the county Production and Marketing Administration County and Community committee office to sell portions of his crop to the government. The apples were to be distributed in schools.

Numerous inquiries made by growers when the government purchase plans were first announced indicated the possibility that the county would offer more than 13 carloads of apples.

But after the price and requirements were announced, no sellers were forthcoming.

It was generally understood among growers that the government would make additional purchases of apples during forthcoming months. It was also hoped by growers that the price might be higher in forthcoming purchases.

If the price is right, they may sell; but with processing plants running overtime, a fair sale on open markets, and some storage facilities available, the local growers just were not interested in government buying.

$200 In Prizes For Parade Tonight; Monday Rain Date

Approximately $200 in prizes will be distributed tonight at the annual Gettysburg Halloween parade, scheduled to start from the Meade school at 6:30 o'clock.

Sixty prizes are listed for the most beautiful, most unusual and most comical costumes; in addition there will be prizes for floats, for decorated bicycles, largest families in conveyances, and horse drawn conveyances.

In the event of rain tonight the parade will be held Monday night.

Firemen will meet at the engine house this evening at 5:45 o'clock for instructions. Some will serve as special policemen, others as marshals for the parade. Because of the need for many firemen, Fire Chief James A. Aumen has asked that as many firemen as possible turn out in uniform to assist.

Because of the rain Friday night and today, to avoid damage to the high school field, the judging will be held on East Middle street, near the fire engine house. The parade will form as scheduled at Meade school, march west on Chambersburg street to the square, then south to East High street. Turning east on High street it will then proceed north on South Stratton to East Middle street and then turn west, ending at Baltimore street.

During the parade, members of the committee will pass out different colored cards to the participants. After the parade ends, the contestants will be called in groups before the judges' stand according to the color of their card. The method is being followed to break the parade down into smaller units for easier judging.

Bands To Play
In intervals during the judging, musical numbers will be played by the Littlestown high school and Blue and Gray bands.

Twenty prizes will be given for the most beautiful costumes, 20 for the most comical and 20 for the most unusual. In addition a number of other smaller prizes will be given, with the amount to be determined by the expenses connected with the parade. So far $225 has been donated and $189 is listed for prizes. Expenses include $2.50 for the loudspeaker services, and the transportation costs for the Littlestown band. Charles Lauver, treasurer of the committee, announced. Prior to tonight's parade the amount of expenses will be determined and what remains will be distributed as prizes.

Members of the committee are to meet at the fire house at 6:45 o'clock. Judges will meet at the Adams house at 6 o'clock this evening.

Dr. Stine Credited With Idea That Resulted In Making Nylon

Dr. Charles M. A. Stine, of Wilmington, Del., an executive of the duPont company, and president of the board of trustees of Gettysburg college, is credited in the current issue of the Saturday Evening Post with starting the train of thought which resulted in the discovery of nylon.

In Part 4 of an article, "The DuPonts," by William S. Dutton, the author describes Lamont duPont's woodpile as the birthplace of the idea which gave nylon to the world. "Chopping wood is his (Lamont duPont's) indefatigable hobby," says Dutton. "To this woodpile a spring day in 1927 came Dr. C. M. A. Stine. At that time he was the director of the chemical department. As Lamont chopped, the doctor outlined an idea. He suggested that the company should strike out into pure chemical research, the search for fundamental secrets of matter, a field then of interest mainly to colleges and endowed bodies not concerned about earning profits."

"That winter a little group of picked doctors of philosophy, backed by more money than any university could afford, went to work on the strangest project yet launched on the Wilmington frontier. The group was headed by Dr. Wallace H. Carothers, lately of Harvard, potentially one of the academic world's most brilliant research chemists."

Dutton relates in his article that it was seven years later that Carothers exhibited a "gossamer filament" then known only as a synthetic textile fiber. It became known later as nylon.

New Customer For Jacobs Store Is Drowsy Opossum

Many sections of town have their squirrels, an occasional deer is reported on the outskirts of town and skunks are familiar to most town dwellers. But this morning a new denizen of the wild — the Race Horse Alley opossum—was discovered in Gettysburg.

Maybe it was a rainy night or the chilly weather of the last few days that sent a full grown opossum into a garage at the rear of Jacobs Brothers' grocery store on Center square.

This morning store employees found the 'possum sleeping comfortably in a half bushel apple basket. The wise fellow had selected a basket in which there was a burlap bag to add to his comfort. William Jacobs, one of the proprietors of the store, said the 'possum apparently had crawled into the garage during the night under the sliding doors at the rear which open onto Race Horse alley.

Undisturbed by trucks and workmen, the uninvited lodger apparently has plans to sleep through the day.

An employee of Charles L. Taylor, Biglerville R. 1, Baldwin and Melvin "Jack" Heller, Biglerville R. 1, were engaged in cutting down a tree near the Taylor sawmill, about a mile from Fairfield station, when the accident occurred.

BOY ESCAPES TRAP IN DEEP CISTERN PIPE

By BO BYERS

Austin, Tex., Oct. 29 (AP)—Slight scratches on the face and side were the only physical reminders today that three-year-old Bobby Andrew Gow imprisoned three hours yesterday deep in an 8-inch cistern pipe. Bobby, whose 26-pound body dropped from view at 2:48 p. m. (CST), just 50 feet from his back doorstep, was reported in good shape at Brackenridge hospital. He spent the night there under observation in the pediatrics ward.

Maybe he owed his life to quick-thinking 12-year-old Johnny Schneider. It was Johnny who shouted the alarm when Bobby slipped feet first into the abandoned pipe. Johnny dashed into the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Gow and told them what had happened to their little reddish-haired boy, youngest of three children.

Used Oxygen Line
As the father rushed to the backyard Johnny stepped to the telephone and dialed 4333. He remembered the number of the fire department because he had been a fire marshal at his school last year. Firemen and policemen were on the scene in 10 minutes. Civilian volunteers rolled in.

They swung pick axes and shovels. A steam shovel went into action less than half an hour after Bobby disappeared from sight. Two more shovels and compressed air hammers joined the scooping-out operation which allowed workers to get to the base of the pipe.

An oxygen line dangled in the pipe near Bobby's head and kept pumping until rescuers with cold chisels and tin snippers cut through to the lad at 5:42 p. m.

2,000 See Rescue
Master Mechanic M. R. Miller, of the fire department, held Bobby's hand to comfort him as the section of pipe was removed. Miller then lifted the youngster and handed him swiftly but gently to Police Lt. Otto Ludwig.

Bobby was kicking. He hollered, "Daddy." The cry was almost lost in the roar of some 2,000 spectators who had remained silent until those pressing against police ropes saw the child move.

"They've got him. . . He's alive," the front-line onlookers cried out.

"Oh, Lord, just to see that boy. . . " Gow said tenderly when asked how he felt when he saw Bobby released.

Gow and his wife, both 55, moved here in April from Hackettstown, N. J., after a doctor recommended a change of climate. Gow suffered from an arthritis infection of one leg. He is a printer at a local publishing firm.

Warriors And Hershey Play To Scoreless Tie; Downpour Throughout Stops Attacks

Playing in a downpour which had started more than two hours before game time and which continued throughout the entire game, the Gettysburg and Hershey high football teams fought to a scoreless tie here Friday evening before several hundred hardy fans who braved the elements to witness the fray.

Through being held to a tie the Warriors lost valuable ground in their uphill fight to remain in the running for the championship honors, Chambersburg facing Waynesboro 22-7 to strengthen its first place position and greatly enhance its chances of repeating as title holders.

Gettysburg's best offensive weapon, its aerial attack, was completely bogged down by the adverse conditions and the Warriors scored but one real scoring chance, reaching Hershey's 24-yard stripe midway in the second quarter.

Visitors Threaten

Hershey, who outgained the locals nine first downs to four, threatened several times, penetrating to the 17 in the first quarter and twice in the last period moving deep into Warrior loam.

Williams kicked off to DeBenedict who returned to his own 31 to open the game. Hershey soon punted out on the Gettysburg 37. After gaining a first down at midfield Donovan intercepted one of the two Warriors passes thrown during the game at midfield. Basti and Heistand powered their way to two first downs to the 17 but the Forney-men halted the drive and took over on the 21.

Both teams resorted to punting on third down, playing for a fumble. Early in the second period Kurtz kicked out on the Gettysburg 49. Dick and Paul Miller gained a first down on the visitors' 45. Biesecker and Sachs collaborated for another first down on the 35. Sachs picked up four yards through center and then Paul Miller carried to the 24.

At that point the locals' only real scoring threat evaporated as two running plays were halted and a pass failed.

Warriors Stop Drive

Both teams resorted to kicking throughout much of the third period but late in the round Hershey took over on its 43 and picked up two first downs to reach the 26. The Warriors braced and the threat was over when Charley Kitzmiller snared a pass on the 27 in the early minutes of the final period.

Sachs punted to the Trojans' 34 and then Basti picked up a first down on his own 45 and followed with a 22-yard run around end to the Gettysburg 33 where he was hauled to earth by Miller. Basti and Heistand rammed the line four times but failed to make the necessary yardage, Gettysburg taking over on the 24.

Hershey, defying the weather, took to the air with Basti whipping an aerial to Hughes for a first down on the 20 late in the period but again the Warriors were equal to the occasion and took over on the 12. Sachs punted out to his own 45 with the ball being returned to the 39.

With time fast running out the Trojans tried three straight passes which fell incomplete and Gettys-

Sachs and Kurtz turned in some pretty punting despite the water-soaked ball. Although fumbles were frequent none were of a serious nature, all being recovered by the offending team.

Gettysburg's both pass attempts failed, one being intercepted. The visitors threw seven passes, all in the final quarter, two of which connected while one was intercepted.

John Bunyan Plan To Check Mine Fire

Harrisburg, Oct. 29 (AP)—A John Bunyan plan turned up today in efforts to extinguish a three-year-old underground mine fire at Mt. Carmel.

It's simple if it works. But the idea is an experimental one that may cost up to $200,000 without assurance of success.

A state mines department spokesman, who declined quotation by name, said the plan calls for building a gigantic drain plug between two deep underground basins of water.

The plug would stop off the flow of water from one basin into the other and create a dam that would rise to the level of the fire just 90

SQUIRES HOST TO UNDEFEATED ST. FRANCIS 11

Two undefeated and untied records will be at stake Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock when Delone Catholic high tangles with St. Francis Prep of Spring Grove on the McSherrystown gridiron.

An over-flow crowd is expected to attend the game, the outcome of which will have an important bearing on the Harrisburg Diocesan championship this year.

Coach Alex Bell's Squires have breezed past seven opponents this season in compiling their perfect record, last week ending an unbeaten record of Mt. Carmel Catholic. The Delone outfit will also be seeking its 17th straight without defeat, having started their long winning streak in 1948.

St. Francis is reported to have a powerful outfit and includes in its victories a win over Waynesboro and LaSalle of Cumberland, Md.

A victory Sunday would be a big shot in the arm for Delone in its bid for a perfect season.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Oct. 29 (AP)—After reading the reports of recent week-ends the question today seems to be not who will win the football games, but who will be recipient of the loudest blast.

Season's record so far belongs to the North Carolinians, who cut loose after last week's LSU game. . . . Reports say the well-watered field wasn't the only cause of dispute. There was also a matter of LSU insisting on a brown ball for a night game and then appeared in burnt gold jerseys.

While it has nothing to do with the case, all this recalls a story told by Dick Carrington, Piedmont league president and former football official. . . . Carrington's work was severely criticized by a coach and they agreed Dick wouldn't work any more games involving that school.

A couple of years later, when Carrington saw his assignment list included three games at the school, he phoned the coach and apologized for the mistake. . . . "That's no mistake," was the reply. "I've tried all the other officials. They're no better than you are."

IT'S ALL IN THE SPELLING
When a correspondent from Finland turned up at the Garden the other night to see Helsinki-born Pentti Land of the Rangers receive the Calder trophy as last year's most valuable hockey rookie, one writer remarked: "It's the first time most of the guys around here knew a Finn wasn't always $5."

SPORTSPOURRI

Burt Shotton is due to visit Brooklyn next week, presumably to receive the official word that he'll manage the Dodgers in 1950. . . . And Branch Rickey insists it was a "coincidence" that when he visited Vero beach recently, Shotton turned up there to do some fishing. . . . Fred Perry, the tennis pro, will try big-time tournament golf for the first time in the North and South open at Pinehurst next week. . . . Fred says he never was bothered by tennis crowds, but he can tighten up like a duffer and blow a two-foot putt. . . . Former Light Heavyweight Champ Billy Conn, who now calls himself an oilman, recently underwent an operation to have the dents taken out of his nose.

Boxing

New York—The International Boxing club announced that no plans had been made to replace middleweight title fight December 2 which was cancelled by the plane crash death of Marcel Cerdan.

Tennis

Chicago—Pancho Gonzales, who recently gave up his amateur title, defeated Pro Champion Jack Kramer, 9-7, 1-6, 6-4 to square the cross-country exhibition tour at one match apiece. Pancho Segura made it two straight wins over Frankie Parker, 3-6, 6-1, 6-4.

MICHIGAN FIGHT PROBE MOVES ON

Detroit, Oct. 29 (AP)—The Kid Gavilan-Lester Felton fight investigation shaped up today as the biggest in Michigan ring history.

From appearances—with the state of Michigan on hand to help other agencies—it had no equal in the memory of ring oldsters. Gov. G. Mennen Williams ordered state police to step in yesterday, acting on the State Boxing commission's request.

Already the Detroit police and the Wayne (Detroit) county prosecutor's office had entered the inquiry into the October 21 split verdict.

However, authorities had yet to report any evidence to support the "gambling coup rumor," which Police Commissioner Harry S. Toy said had reached him.

"We're just getting started," said Police Inspector Joseph V. Krug.

Felton's unpopular 2-1 decision over Gavilan was followed by the commission's suspension of the licenses of Referee Morrie Sherman and Sam Pearlstein, a judge. Both voted for Felton.

Meanwhile the International Boxing club, and Felton, went ahead with business. The IBC, which promoted the Gavilan fight, announced that Felton had been signed to meet Tony Pelonne, New York welterweight, here November 9.

ROCKY MAY GET SHOT AT TITLE

New York, Oct. 29 (AP)—The shocking death of Marcel Cerdan may mean that Rocky Graziano will get a June outdoor shot at Jake Lamotta's middleweight title.

The tumultuous Rocky, former ruler of the division and a great drawing card, would seem to have the inside track over other leading contenders—welterweight champion Ray (Sugar) Robinson and France's Laurent Dauthuille.

All three hold claims to a crack at Lamotta's crown.

Graziano, who has had almost as much trouble with the boxing powers as he has with his actual ring opponents, is a warm friend of the champion but it seems unlikely he would let that interfere with a chance at the title and a big pot.

He and Jake might draw a half million dollars in a place like Yankee stadium.

Robinson has beaten Lamotta four times in their five fights. Another meeting between them, champion against champion, couldn't miss attracting a big gate—if the two could be brought together.

Dauthuille won a unanimous 10-round decision over Jake in Montreal last February. The blond Frenchman, a rugged counter-puncher, gave the Bronx bull plenty to remember on that occasion. However, Laurent is not known here and probably would have to show himself a time or two before getting a big New York shot at the man he beat in Canada.

Cerdan's death removed the No. 1 challenger for the crown.

Sport Shorts

Chicago, Oct. 29 (AP)—Jack Kramer, kingpin of pro tennis, may have found his match at last in 21-year-old Pancho Gonzales, a fellow Californian.

Gonzales, the 1948 and 1949 amateur champion, impressed a turnout of 8,212 Chicago tennis followers in the stadium last night by whipping the king 9-7, 1-6, 6-4. The victory evened the series at one match apiece in their world tour which started in New York Tuesday with Kramer taking a 6-4, 3-6, 6-3, 6-2 decision.

Capot Easy Winner Over Coaltown

Baltimore, Oct. 29 (AP)—Capot just about had "horse of the year" honors wrapped up for Greentree stable today, wrestling them from Calumet farm in one stunning race.

Capot forged ahead as the 1949 champion of the turf by beating the horse with the most formidable record of the year, Coaltown, in yesterday's Pimlico special.

It may be that he beat a horse which became lame sometime during the mile and three-sixteenths race. The way Capot won—by a smashing 12 lengths—came like a bolt out of the overcast sky.

A FAVORITE WORD

I like this word of ours—Unity. It is so full of meaning. It has a joyous cast. It is the key to a multitude of things, especially success in the larger sense, and to what we all so much search for—happiness.

The Creator meant that there should be unity throughout the world. He never meant his world should be turned into a universal state, lorded over by a selected few.
He created scores of nationalities, with their own characteristics and dreams, and ways of life, and He meant that all should live together in these separate units, contributing their share to the sum total of commerce and happiness throughout the world.

There was a reason for creating so many races and colors of human beings and placing them in localities where they could best thrive. But as time went on many of these people got restless and venturesome, and new lands were discovered and developed. That's where the trouble started in so many instances. Various nationalities took these newly discovered places as their own. Then nations began to fight among themselves. History is spotted with wars and nations have been long buried from them—yet this day we have not learned their futility—only their horror.

If only nations would live in unity
—each happily minding its own business—what a world this would be! Each nation upon this earth has something valuable that it can exchange with other nations for what it needs or can use. If we but had unity of thought and purpose all over this earth, all nations would be prosperous and happy. So would individuals.

"To be of the same mind with another," wrote Stevenson, "is to see all things in the same perspective." We don't have to think the same things as others do, but to the same purpose. Therein is to be discovered the germ of tolerance and the road to perfect understanding, which results in unity of mind whenever and wherever applied.

MIRACLE WORKER

For years we had to tell him that he hadn't brushed his hair.
Now he looks into the mirror with a penetrating stare.
That gay necktie he is wearing was a birthday gift to me.
It's a miracle that's happened.
There's a girl he's going to see.

Time was we had to tell him that a boy should wear his best—Not a sweat shirt for a party, and his trousers should be pressed.
Now he's fusing over creases at the elbow and the knee.
And there is no doubt about it.
There's a girl he's going to see.

I chuckle as I watch him getting ready for his date.
But I'm sorry to behold him that his mother couldn't wait.
For I know this very minute she would chuckle if she knew That a girl had just accomplished what we both could never do.

MATTHEWS IS SEEKING MAN FOR NAVY POST

By ELTON C. FAY

Washington, Oct. 29 (AP)—Secretary of the Navy Matthews, calmly ignoring lawmakers' demands that he quit, combed through a list of admirals today seeking a successor to Louis Denfeld as Chief of Naval Operations.

Matthews gave not the slightest indication that he intended to heed angry cries for his resignation from at least two members of Congress.
But he declined any comment on that or other statements from Congressional quarters.

When reporters asked him if there was any chance he might change his mind about removing Adm. Denfeld and giving him some other job, Matthews said firmly:

"Going Through With It"
"I asked the president for authority to make the transfer. I do not ask for things just to ask for them. Of course I intend to go through with it."

Denfeld's special assistant, Capt.
Walter Karig, told reporters he expects the admiral to retire from the Navy rather than take a lesser post.

Vehement assertions that Matthews should leave the Defense Department came from Senator
Knowland (R-Calif.) and Rep.
Bates (R-Mass.).

Bates is a member of the House armed services committee which heard Denfeld and most of the other high command of the three armed forces testify in the bitter military wrangle over unification.

"Absolutely Unfit"
He said Matthews, who was named to his job last spring, "is absolutely unfit to hold the office; his Naval experience is nil and he can't even row a boat."

Knowland declared it is "imperative" that the secretary quit "so that a new top team can properly function" in the Navy Department.

From his home at Milledgeville,
Ga., Chairman Vinson of the House committee said Denfeld had been made to "walk the plank" because of his testimony two weeks ago that the Navy's attack power is being ruined in the Pentagon.

Vinson said the committee will look into Denfeld's ouster when Congress convenes next January.

Automobiles are not always what they're cracked out to be.

Think Nothing Of It

With all the juicy problems facing the world today it is nothing short of foolish to worry about certain things about cars which are so general as to have little significance. Many owners become alarmed when oil mileage goes down after a valve and carbon job, or if the engine of a new car uses a lot of oil. This always happens until carbon starts to collect on top of the pistons to help form a seal. Then there is clutch chatter—a condition so general that many mechanics hesitate to pull down a clutch unless things are very bad. Much chatter is due to weather conditions affecting clutch lining and to poor handling of the clutch by the driver. Another needless worry is failure to get a start with a hot motor. Just open the throttle wide and crank. Don't pump on the accelerator and of course, don't choke. This problem turns a lot of hair gray but it's as general as it is easily solved.

Keep These In Mind

If the fan belt of your car is one of those habitual squealers and you don't seem to be able to effect a permanent cure, try to see if there is some other type of belt you can install on the car. Much squeal is due to belts riding too deeply in their pulleys.

Failure to keep open the water drain holes in car doors will result in rusting out the metal of door sills. What happens is that the trapped water slowly leaks out and keeps the sill damp at all times. That starts rusting.

Carburetor Comes Last

As a matter of cold fact the carburetor should come last in any motor tune-up. That is because carburetion is so largely influenced by compression and ignition. But majority of motorists, and not a few mechanics, are inclined to reverse the process.

Without good valving and proper ring control there can be no normal compression and thus no satisfaction from the motor regardless of how well the carburetor functions. It is the same with ignition. Worn spark plugs or inefficient breaker points will spoil the whole job. Nor will good ignition be able to overcome loss of compression. Actually the compression test shows up the situation with regard to the motor's mechanical condition, at least so far as its cylinders, pistons, rings and valves are concerned. Any effort to compensate for compression loss by more efficient ignition and carburetion simply represents a waste of time and money.

Mechanic Joe Speaking:

"When J. J. L. heard a peculiar fluttering noise while starting off with his automatic transmission he naturally suspected something wrong with the mechanical marvel behind the engine. However, when I took the wheel I surprised him by listening carefully to the engine. Then I got out and lifted the hood.

"With the car stock still, and the motor accelerated, he could also hear the noise. I told him it was due to a slightly sloppy valve tappet. With the car standing still of course trouble with the automatic transmission was automatically ruled out."

Simple But Sounds Bad

Ever have a perfectly smooth running engine suddenly break into a series of thumps? Sometimes this is just for a moment; other times it lasts for miles. Or it may disappear entirely when the car speeds up, only to come back into the picture during idling or when driving slowly in high gear as when turning a corner. Anyhow the thumping can be most disturbing. It always sounds like real trouble brewing. But here's the happy ending:

This sort of thing usually hints of a bad valve. Try a little valve oil or tune-up oil—any one of the additives which remove those gummy deposits in the valve guides which cause valves to hang up and make the best of motors run like a stone crusher.

That's The Story

When oil becomes contaminated too easily the indications are that the engine isn't running efficiently. Perhaps a too high carburetor float level is causing a too rich mixture. Or the mixture may be so lean that the choke has to be used excessively, which automatically results in a too rich mixture. Seldom considered is a faulty or completely inoperative motor thermostat. When water circulates throughout the cold radiator during the warm-up period the choke works overtime and gasoline and water get into the crankcase to dilute the oil.

Right To The Point

I'm receiving more and more letters in which motorists are guilty of taking detours in trying to find out why there is so much chatter and shake in the drive line. They're overlooking the fact that often this is due to rough operation of the motor.

When one reader found the engine cutting out as he tried to get up to higher speeds quickly, although the motor ran perfectly when he gave it time, he was just overlooking the fact that this proved that the fuel pump was weak. It takes more gas to get up to speed quickly.

While it is true that many a start is delayed, especially in the autumn, because there is moisture on the tops of the spark plugs, the coil and the distributor cap, there is no sense accepting this explanation if other cars of the same make and model in the neighborhood are not kicking up the same sort of fuss. It may be that the engine of your car really is getting a wetting from a water leak in the upper water hose. The rule about getting a start when there is moisture from condensation on the plugs—raising the hood and wiping off the exposed ignition parts—is a good one to follow in any case. It quickly leads to discovery of a water leak.

Useful To Know

The engine can be cooled most efficiently by going on down the other side of the hill in second gear rather than to stop at the top.

DECLINE OFFER OF $50 MILLION WITH 'STRINGS'

Natchez, Miss., Oct. 29 (P)—George W. Armstrong, Sr., withdrew his offer of a $50,000,000 endowment for Jefferson military college last night.

Today the trustees were to meet to determine if the 147-year-old school with an enrollment of 47 students must close for lack of funds. The 84-year-old Mississippi and Texas oil man said he withdrew his offer because a statement by three trustees of the school "repudiates" a condition of the endowment.

Asked Charter Changes That condition called for changes in the charter to bar all persons of African or Asiatic descent and to operate the college primarily for Christians.

After Armstrong withdrew his offer, Stanley N. Murphy, chairman of the trustees' executive committee, told newsmen: "It is obvious why we couldn't accept Judge Armstrong's offer under his terms. We don't need money that badly. We would close the school first."

Murphy said that Armstrong made his offer last February 14 asking only that persons of African and Asiatic descent be barred from the school and that the number of trustees be cut from 12 to five, of which the Judge Armstrong foundation would name three.

"Utterly Foreign" He said nothing appeared objectionable in that request.

But later, Murphy added, Allen Jack Armstrong, son of the oil man, told newsmen without authorization of the trustees that the school would teach "the superiority of the Anglo-Saxon and Latin American races."

"That," Murphy said, "was utterly foreign to the thinking of all other 11 members of the board of trustees. All the confusion apparently originated when young Armstrong made statements about his father's endowment intentions."

"Opposed To Mongrelization" Both Armstrongs live deep in the country several miles from Natchez and were not available for comment.

Armstrong's withdrawal of his offer was contained in a letter to Elliot Trimble, public relations counsel for the school.

It said in part: "I have concluded to withdraw my offer to endow the college and give my estate to the Judge Armstrong foundation, now under attack by the Truman New Deal administration."

He did not explain in what manner the foundation is under attack. "I am not opposed to the Jewish and Negro races as such but I am opposed to mongrelization."

NEW BONUS CHARGE Pittsburgh, Oct. 29 (P)—An official of a veterans' group opposed to any Pennsylvania state bonus for ex-servicemen Friday accused backers of the plan of "misleading the public on the condition of state finances." The charge was made by J. M. Roberts, Jr., a director of the Citizens-Veterans, in an address before the Pittsburgh Junior Chamber of Commerce.

What's On Your Mind? Q. Recently when running the motor I disconnected the ground and was surprised to find that the thing kept running for about half a minute. How could this be? N.M.L.

A. Elsewhere in your letter you say that the engine was running very hot. An engine will self-ignite itself without benefit of electric ignition when overheated.

Q. I have installed two new regulators and a new battery and still the ammeter pointer is erratic. New brushes have also been put into the generator. K. R. M.

A. The trouble is with the generator. You may have a stuck brush holder, loose connections, a slipping belt or a loose commutator segment.

Q. What is the function of the kick shackle on the rear of the left front spring on my car? W.M.F.

A. It is designed to damp out the kick-back that the steering system. This idea was discovered accidentally in France.

Q. The starter control on my car is in the form of a steel ball in a milled groove in the throttle shaft—a peculiar arrangement and not on a later or earlier models. How can this be adjusted? B. G.

A. Adjustment is made through adding or removing brass shims. It's work for the service man.

Q. My car has overdrive but I do not get good gas mileage. Any ideas about this? H. T. McB.

A. I believe this car is under-powered and that you are obligated to kick down to third gear too often. Overdrive isn't efficient under such conditions unless the car is driven on the open road in level territory most of the time.

Q. What is meant by a straight-through muffler? How does this differ from the usual kind? Would you recommend one for my car? Thanks, J. D. D.

A. In a straight-through type there is no baffling of the gases, silencing being done by letting the gases expand radially into silencing sections. Most mufflers for cars are this type.

Q. What would cause grabby brakes when adjustments are corrected and there are no warped drums? H. T. R.

MANY SPIRITUAL REVIVAL SIGNS SEEN IN WORLD

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Russia soldiers at Helmsstedt, in the Soviet occupied zone of Germany, refused to let a truckload of Bibles proceed to Berlin.

"That's propaganda material," explained Red officer in charge.

And of course he was quite right about the "propaganda" angle. The Bible is the greatest piece of propaganda ever developed.

That is precisely why the Communists, who are battling religion as the hope of the masses, are anxious to prevent distribution of the world's most widely read volume. Hitlerian Nazism maintained the same attitude.

So the Russian officer of Helmstedt was correctly following orders, and presumably his own conscience as well, if he is a loyal Communist. Still I have a notion he was wasting his energy. I don't believe you can kill religion that way.

As a matter of fact religion is doing all right for itself. There are many signs of moral and spiritual revival in various parts of our war-shocked world. This column called attention the other day to the indications that a religious revival may be boiling up in England.

There is a widespread feeling in Britain that the country won't overcome its economic troubles or regain its old status as a world power until there has been a spiritual awakening. There also has been a post-war resurgence of religion in Holland and other continental countries.

Coming In China

Then recently this column reported a conversation which I had in New York with Madame Chiang Kai-shek, wife of China's Nationalist Generalissimo. We were discussing

Seize Marijuana; Philadelphian Held

Philadelphia, Oct. 29 (AP)—A Philadelphia man charged with possessing enough marijuana to make 10,000 illegal cigarettes has been placed under $5,000 bail by U. S. Commissioner Ethan Allen Doty.

Agents of the Federal Bureau of Narcotics said they found a paper bag containing two and three-quarter pounds of powdered marijuana when they arrested Joseph L. Simpson, 49, yesterday.

The agents said Simpson handed the bag to a companion as the two men got out of a taxi. The companion escaped, but dropped the narcotics. The agents said the illegal cigarettes sell for 50 cents to $1.

China's rehabilitation and she said: "That can be achieved only through moral and spiritual growth."

"You believe that moral and spiritual change will come to China?"

"Yes. It is coming," I asked, and she replied:

"Return to Religion"

But we don't have to go to Europe or Asia to find this ferment working. We see it right here in the western hemisphere. One of my AP colleagues, John L. Springer, sought an explanation of why half a dozen religious books had climbed to the top of the non-fiction best selling lists in the United States. William R. Barbour, president of the Fleming H. Revell company, book publishers since 1870, asked experts in the field to answer the query.

The consensus was that this call for religious books indicated a large scale "return to religion" in the United States.

Yes, from its own standpoint, Communism has every reason to be fearful of this trend.

7 FROM STATE WIN CARNEGIE AWARD MEDALS

Pittsburgh, Oct. 29 (AP)—The valiant effort of three Pennsylvanians who died trying to save a friend trapped in a burning coal mine has brought them posthumous awards for heroism.

The Carnegie Hero Fund Commission has awarded bronze medals and death benefits to the coal miners' families. The heroes were William J. Kelly, Sr., 48, and Joseph P. Wovak, 33, of Shenandoah and Raymond J. Ey, 38, of Girardville.

They died 800 feet below the surface of a fire-filled mine last May 2. Two days later, rescuers found their bodies together with that of the mine fire boss they went down to save, William T. O'Brien, 52.

Honor 24 Heroes, Heroines

The commission honored 24 heroes and heroines in 10 states with bronze medal awards yesterday. Seven of the wards went to Pennsylvanians.

A 31-year-old bartender, Wallace E. Meyer of Newburg, was posthumously awarded a bronze medal. He saved his landlady's daughter, Betty Lou Brunecke, 20, from a house fire January 24, 1949, but died when he re-entered the house in a futile attempt to rescue her parents and two brothers.

The remaining three awards went to two boys, 14 and 19, and a 10-year-old schoolgirl. They are the only Pennsylvanians on the list who survived their acts of heroism.

Saved Boy's Life

Barbara C. Sipple of Pottsville received her award for saving the life of eight-year-old Joseph F. Burns. The boy broke through the ice on Gintner's dam at Pottsville January 2, 1949.

Robert L. Snell, 14-year-old schoolboy from Hollis, was awarded a bronze medal for his rescue of Carl L. Hakes, seven. Robert saved the youngster from drowning March 17, 1948, in Loyalsock creek.

The valiant attempt of Vittorio DeParasis, Williamsport, failed to save a 16-year-old high school girl from drowning in a whirlpool and he narrowly missed death himself. He was awarded a bronze star for his attempt to rescue Lorraine Walters from the Susquehanna river June 14, 1948.

The neck of the giraffe, although exceedingly long, contains only seven bones—the same number as in the necks of most other mammals.

the Capital Hospital Service, the central Pennsylvania Blue Cross unit, which will be of benefit to the hospital and will at the same time enlarge the service to Blue Cross members.

Mr. Doud reported the enlargement of the laboratory is nearing completion and that work on replacing the roof of the original hospital building is scheduled to start shortly.

Dr. R. W. Gifford, president of the medical staff, reported everything at the hospital is in a satisfactory condition. He said the fluctuating census, while affecting the fiscal operations of the institution, must be expected.

Elect Staff Member

On recommendation of the medical staff, Dr. Lewis J. Restak, of Hanover, was elected a member of the medical staff of the hospital.

C. A. Bixler, whose resignation as president of the hospital was tendered last month, advised the board that he intended his resignation to include his membership on the board of directors, explaining that business interests prevented him from attending the meetings regularly.

The board, in regretfully accepting his resignation as a director, paid high tribute to Mr. Bixler for his services as a director for more than 25 years.

Directors attending the meeting included John Hauser, Biglerville; Guy Stock, Bendersville; John Bream, Cashtown; Dr. Frank H. Kramer, William Durborow, Richard A. Brown, Carl Baum and Henry M. Schaff, all of Gettysburg.
